Temporary exhibitions

Exhibition preview–LATERNA MAGIKA: Deconstruction and Upgrade
The exhibition will be officially opened on 21/5, so Museum Night visitors will have a rare opportunity to glimpse the exhibition still "in the making" with its architect and co-curator. The aim of the exhibition is to present Laterna magika as a multimedia audiovisual work, a method and principle of creation reaching over to various experiments in film and visual arts. The experimental scene of the National Theatre will act as a phenomenon, a technical image releasing itself from space and stepping out of its framework, or as a performative, intermedia, interactive and immersive apparatus.
MARIE FILIPPOVÁ
The exhibition showcases an installation conceived by the Brno graphic designer, painter and environmental artist Marie Filippová, in which the artist directly responds to the space inside the House of Arts.

Programme

18.00 / Guided tour with the exhibition's co-curator and architect Zbyněk Baladrán
Refreshments provided by Café Biograf.

G 99: Rafał Żarski
CONSTANT RENDERING
Rafał Żarski invites us with his exhibition on a journey into his vision of the future. On Earth we do not find life in the real sense of the word, only the perfect stage set of the urban world and machines that live a metalife.

Programme

19.00 / G99 / Presentation of the residential programme Brno Artists in Residence (AiR)

19.00 / G99 / Guided tour of the exhibition Rafał Żarski CONSTANT RENDERING with the curator Marta Fišerová Cwiklinski
19.30 / 1st floor / Guided tour of the VDIFF exhibition with its curator Milan Mikuláščík will present works of the 14 participating artists and explain the circumstances related to their origins

20.30 / 1st floor / Performance in the exhibition – the trio of artists – Patrik Kriššák, Roel van der Linden and Julius Reichel – who take part in the VDIFF exhibition represent three different approaches to painting. The connecting link of the planned performances is updating the romantic model of a creative artist (both at the ironic and serious level) and simultaneously popularising the work of a painter to the general public.
An illustrative presentation of the work of Patrik Kriššák who invented his own experimental painterly technique (when he turns paintings upside down) and will introduce it to the public. The Dutch artist Roel van der Linden will paint (and give out) small-sized speed-portraits of interested visitors for free.
A live painting performance by Julius Reichel will respond to the technological challenges of contemporary society.

Refreshments provided by café Trojka.

In the form of video-interviews it captures the stories of people who were forced to leave their homes as a result of war and had to start a new life elsewhere. Special attention is paid to the cohabitation of Jews, ethnic Czechs, Germans and Slovaks, bilingual Moravians and Böhmissch before 1938 and their different experiences after the forcible transfer. Excerpts from the interviews are classified both based on biographical passages and by keywords such as physical locations, historical events and repeating types of experience to clarify their relationship within the narrative. The exhibition is on loan from the movement against xenophobia Antikomplex z.s.

People and Money
Beauty in Glass and Metal

The permanent exhibition called "People and Money" conceived in Brno in collaboration with the Moravian Museum is situated in the building of the former Mortgage Bank, today the seat of the Czech National Bank. It provides a rare insight into the history of the development of money and presents a complete overview of currency in the Czech lands with a special focus on the different characteristics of this phenomenon in Moravia. Visitors can see rare documents illuminating the history of the monetary policy, different means of payment and examples of the security features in the past and at present.

The exhibition entitled "Beauty in Glass and Metal" presents the oeuvre of one of the most prominent artists who designed Czechoslovak and Czech coins, Jiří Harcuba (1928–2013), which he bequeathed to the Czech National Bank. Several dozen sculptures and glass exhibits document the life-long work of this world-renowned artist, glass designer, sculptor and engraver of medals, who designed the Czech five-crown coin among others.

Admission free
No time limit

We present a loose sequel to the Kávéesky KVS project bringing to life Brno tales and legendary figures, this time from the period of the first republic.

At the end of the 19th century after the demolition of its centre Brno gave way to modern architecture and the new city attracted characters and figures who left an indelible mark on its streets and it is these we want to tell you about as the sad heroes of the new Brno tales. Thanks to a virtual guide you will see animated, today long-forgotten people and their stories that formed the face of Brno.

Tales:

Deleted from History – JAMU, HF, Komenského square
Tones of Death – Besední dům, Komenského square 8
